BIBLE READING PLAN

6 chapters every day - from 6 sections

34 chapters per row | 204 per block of 6 rows | 1,224 per page

Write the Bible book on the left and the chapter numbers you have read in the boxes.

Genesis
Joshua
Job
Isaiah
Matthew
Romans

After the last book in a section, start again with the first book of that same section.

Name: _____

HOW TO USE THE READING PLAN

1. Start with six books of the Bible

Read one chapter from each of these books every day:
Genesis, Joshua, Job, Isaiah, Matthew and Romans.
That makes a total of six chapters per day.

2. Record what you have read

In each small box, write the number of the chapter you have read.
The first six book names are already filled in. In the following blocks, write the names of the books you are continuing with on the left.

3. Continue with the next book

When you finish a book of the Bible, start the next day with chapter 1 of the next book in the same section.
For example: after Genesis 50, read Exodus 1; after Joshua 24, read Judges 1.

4. Start again after the last book

Law: after Deuteronomy, start again with Genesis.
History: after Esther, start again with Joshua.
Poetry: after Song of Songs, start again with Job.
Prophets: after Malachi, start again with Isaiah.
Gospels and Acts: after Acts, start again with Matthew.
Letters and Revelation: after Revelation, start again with Romans.

5. Each section progresses independently

The six books do not need to be finished at the same time.
You continue through each of the six sections at its own pace.
This way, you keep reading from the whole Bible again and again.

6. What do the numbers mean?

34 boxes per row; 6 rows per block = 204 boxes;
6 blocks per page = 1,224 boxes. The Bible contains 1,189 chapters.
Because you repeat sections, filling in 1,224 boxes does not necessarily mean you have read every chapter of the Bible exactly once.

Enjoy reading His Word, and may God bless you!